The Festival of Humanity. This will be the festival of the spirit of humanity— aspiring to approach nearer to God, seeking conformity to the divine will to which the Buddha called attention, dedicated to the expression of goodwill which is the lowest aspect of love to which Christ called attention and of which He was the perfect expression. It will be the day pre-eminently on which the divine nature of man will be recognized and his power to express goodwill and to establish right human relations (because of his divinity) will be stressed

A conscious consideration of the force of one's own radiations can produce considerable saturation. A spirit striving for conscious application of its radiations must intensify the manifested power of the heart, for this sunlike source can reveal all paths. Conscious affirmation of radiations is indeed applicable when all higher fiery energies of the heart are kindled. On the path to the Fiery World let us affirm a conscious attitude toward the radiations of the heart. Fiery World III, 392

The Future Is What We Make It!

Our task is to establish the harmony of existence and the creativeness of the infinite Cosmos. The world, in all dimensions, is developed by conditioned human thought. Cosmos indicates a different direction. Human creation has little resemblance to the creation of Cosmos. We bring to man the understanding that his task can proceed in full rhythmic accord with cosmic creation. Infinity 1 #90

There is one Future for this planet. This future is destined, that means it is unavoidable, that it will happen. This unavoidable, predestined future is designed to unfold through humanity. The fun part of this is Free Will. Humanity gets to choose when and how this whole predestined thing will manifest. Unfortunately the choices that humanity has been making over the past numerous eons have strayed, one might say, from Cosmic Intention. In fact, our choices are in serious violation of a number of Cosmic Laws.

As Master M pointed out, "Much has been told to man about the preordained creativeness and about predestination. This destiny man must realize. Our established law points to the impellent factor in the process and one should realize that the future is the result of the past." Infinity II #333

That our future is the direct result of our past thoughts and actions, is obvious to anyone who thinks. We are responsible for what is happening in our daily lives, our families, our cities, nations, and on the Planet. Just as there is no avoiding our destined future, there is no avoiding the responsibility for creating it.

Take a look around. Does what we have been creating make you proud to be a human? Actually facing the data and accepting the responsibility for creating the deplorable, much worse than substandard, living conditions of billions of humans, and the shameful destructions of the planet's ecosystems is startling and difficult to comprehend for those who are living in the canyons of comfort. But these conditions are clear manifestations of our past thinking and actions.

This is the future we have generated. This is our NOW. It is characterized by extreme imbalances in the quality of life for people the world around and an unimaginable disregard for the planet's ecosystems.

Information and data coming from our concerned scientists about the deplorable human living conditions and the planet's ecosystems, when it is made available, not only raises awareness regarding the serious nature of the problems, but it also helps to bring into focus the fact that Humanity is One Being. It is very hard for anyone who has even a spark of love in their heart to know the realities and not feel the call of their heart.

It may seem to skeptical, superficial personalities that we are caught in what seems to be an endless chain of events. However, facing realities such as these and realizing that they are our responsibilities will call out a deep power within those who have even a spark of heart fire. One will begin to realize that he or she is the creator of Future. It becomes obvious to anyone who thinks that we can cause a new future by how we behave now.

There have always been a handful of such brothers and sisters who have given their all in generating many things in all sorts of sectors in the unfolding life of the planet that foster Cosmic Intention. Actually, this fact is the only reason we are still here.

Look carefully at the individuals and groups of past centuries and the work they have done. Look closely at the growing groups of individuals who are today involved in projects and efforts that foster Cosmic Intention. We will see that the motivating power and the purpose which directed their will was and is today a consciousness, a realization or an awareness of the fact of our unavoidable interconnectedness to one another and the planet.

There is only One Humanity, and we are an indissoluble part of the One Planet.

Humanity's forerunners and builders both known and unknown have always realized that all children are our children, that the starving and homeless are our brothers and sisters. Thus, those forerunners and builders both of the past and of the present always worked "in full rhythmic accord with cosmic creation" or for the Common Good.

As was indicated, "Our task is to establish the harmony of existence and the creativeness of the infinite Cosmos" This is far from a difficult task. It requires a tiny expansion of consciousness. This expansion of consciousness which has been unfolding for centuries in Humanity reveals the fact of the One Humanity and this shifts the intention and focus of living for self to living "in full rhythmic accord with cosmic creation" or, for the Common Good. Thus, the former "vale of tears" becomes the joyful experience of creating in accordance with Cosmic Intention.

Mainly, because of the dense physical fixation, and the self-centered and lower mental polarity of most humans in past centuries, the meaning of many, many of such basic laws of cosmic physics have been all but totally lost or deliberately warped to serve the separative, selfish agenda of the Retrogressors. What happened to "Common Good" is an excellent example of both the warping and misunderstanding of Cosmic Law.

"Common Good" is a metaphoric thoughtform that embodies one of the basic concepts of Cosmic Physics. In its purest sense or meaning "Common" means universally present, and "Good" describes an action or a thing or place that is beneficial or which promotes evolution or growth in accordance with Cosmic Intention: the evolution of the Common, or of that which was inherently universally present, or Life. So, the Common Good was a Good for all beings in the four evolving dense physical Kingdoms of manifestation, Human, Animal, Plant, and Mineral.

Just as there are no half Truths, there are no partial Goods. Actions or things, which harm or delay the health or evolutionary development of something or some person or group of persons, are not Good. To say that an action or government policy is good for me but is not good for you is absurd. Thus, it is said that "Good can come only from good, and only good can come from good." The ultimate desecration of this particular Cosmic Principle was the establishing of property rights as superior to human rights.

The Common Good is the only Good. If that which one individual deems is good for his or her separate self interferes in some way with the evolutionary development of any other aspect of Cosmos, let alone another human or group of human beings, it cannot possibly be good for the individual who deems it so either, because in effect when one harms others, one is harming one's self, for humanity is One. Poverty damages everyone.

Individual human beings always and only exist within the context of the collective Humanity. There is an awareness of individuality within the collective. This awareness of one's individuality is an essential, eventually evolutionarily developed, aspect of humanness. During the relatively long or short period of discovery one lives in the illusion in which the sense of self is seen as being separated from the whole of humanity. Evolution for the Soul, for Humanity, is totally concerned with the elimination of the thoughtform of identification with form that we created ages ago. This is what Master Plato's Allegory of the Cave is about. Today, we call this motion of Life Force the expansion of consciousness. It is unavoidable. Much easier and lots more fun to go with it.

As are all concepts of Cosmic Physics, this concept is rather beyond the grasp of those whose consciousness is still mired in the illusion of a single dimension, dense physical, totally selfish vision of Reality. It is precisely this illusory conception of Reality that has caused humanity and the rest of the planet such vast suffering over the past several millenniums.

This illusory view of the Common Good (The Common Good is by the way, the source of our concepts of Harmlessness and Service.) warps it into a proposition that says "If I think something is good for me and it causes you pain or grief, well, I may feel sad for you; however, that's the way the cookie crumbles. My "natural born" right to satisfy my individual welfare or my right to have whatever I want justifies or makes just, my right to have what I want regardless of how it impacts your Welfare."

These kinds of assumptions are the absurd, crumbling foundations upon which our political and economic systems presently rest. These are the thoughtforms that make "property rights" superior to human rights, and make ownership of property of any kind the primary goal of living.

Such thoughtforms are often the productions of highly intelligent self centered minds. However, these same self centered minds are grossly ignorant in their understanding, even awareness of the basic principles of multidimensional Cosmic Physics or Life. Such thoughtforms have been empowered over and over for centuries. They are powerful and persuasive.

Unfortunately, accompanying the assumption of separate and competitive individual existence, which is an illusion, are a number of unavoidable consequences. These consequences are intrinsic aspects of any micro or macro manifestation of this “totally selfish vision of Reality”: War, huge concentrations of Planetary Wealth, Corruption, Environmental Desecration, Poverty, Disease, Sorrow, Despair, and eventually, Dissolution.

Individuals who are actuated by these assumptions are not usually evil. They are unconsciously, but freely, simply following the dictates of ignorance. We have all experimented with these assumptions, experienced the eventual unavoidable consequences and eventually express a more conscious livingness.

And now, once again, these unavoidable consequences have brought us to the brink doom.

However, just as there are unavoidable consequences to the illusion of separation, there is an intrinsic, also ultimately unavoidable, aspect of being human that speaks to us, that whispers about the Good that could be, and what we can cause to be if we would choose to. Usually, our fixations on our desires drown out this small quiet voice of reasonable love which is the only kind of love there is! And we launch a new round of experiment, experience, and expression.

It is strange in a way, but history bears it out, and both micro and macro examples abound, that for some reason we, as individuals and as a collective, as Humanity, we really do not get going until we are faced with unmistakable evidence of our doom. Change will come. The Wheel turns and evolution is unavoidable. How change happens is what concerns us.

So now in these present days and years, Humanity is once again at a crossroads. Now we are seven billion. A large percentage of that seven billion realize that we are facing perhaps the most significant decision we as a collective, as Humanity have ever made. Individual humans, one by one, and in small groups have been facing this decision point for eons. What is different now is that it is the One Humanity that is facing it.

Just as it takes a critical mass of fissile material for a sustained nuclear chain reaction or explosion, it takes a critical mass of individuals with somewhat expanded consciousnesses to generate an explosion or an expansion of consciousness in a Kingdom. To be here now! That is why we incarnated when we did.

We are that critical mass. We need to explode. We will generate the needed chain reaction.

There is an intrinsic, unavoidable aspect of being human that speaks to us, that whispers about the Good that could be, and what we can cause to be if we would choose to.

I for one among the seven billion am sure that we will rise, as we have risen over and over in the past millenniums, to the occasion. Realizing that we are talking about an explosion of consciousness throughout an entire Kingdom of Nature, I spend a lot of time pondering on the possibilities of the Future into which we are evolving.

Some of these possibilities are not that hard to see, but getting the timing right is very dicey. Humanity will not go to bed on a Tuesday and wake up on the dense physical plane on Wednesday on a new planet. (If that happens to someone, I don't think it will be all nice and comfy.)

I think that some significant changes particularly in the elimination of the primacy of the thoughtforms of selfishness will occur rather rapidly, over a few years or a generation. These changes will replace the thoughtforms of selfishness and firmly establish the new foundations for civilization based on cooperation with Cosmic Intention and the Common Good and General Welfare going forward.

With the elimination of the old governing thoughtforms, the unavoidable consequences which they produced will fade away; some, like ridiculous wars to solve problems will disappear rather rapidly, and just in time one might add. Because if there were a next war, it would be curtains for us all.

However, the sun rising on the edge of our new dawn is a harbinger of things to come of a level of joy and wonder that we as yet cannot really understand. We can, however, imagine, and we now understand the power of imagination. So, sisters and brothers, imagine, imagine with all your heart, imagine a planet free from hunger and fear, free from the illusion of being a separated, lonely, frightened, confused, crazy personality. Imagine what a love-driven and brilliant Humanity could do with a planet which is already a "thing of beauty and a joy forever". Go ahead! You can do it! Much better than you think because Souls are Wizards, or White Magicians if you prefer.

Imagine what a love-driven and brilliant Humanity could do with a planet which is already a "thing of beauty and a joy forever".
